

Michael Barolet

Michael is a talented photographer from West Virginia that moved to New York to persue His work/dreams and has since kept it going in London. Barolet's friends have long been his subject of choice (in large format), but the rural landscape has stayed in his focus as well because that takes him back to his roots.

Message me for inventory and with requests.

